20-1	Bailey. The mining village of Beaufort, mentioned here, is also mentioned in several other articles, and is in some of them placed in the county of Brecknock It was, in fact, transferred in 1898 to the administrative county of Monmouth (information from the County Offices, Brecon).
25	Barham. Further details in Gower Memories , ed. Alicia Gower-Jones (Llandysul 1957)—the autobiography of William Griffiths (1788–1861, q.v. on p. 309)
101	DAFYDD GAM. In sources, for 'Dwnn ii' read 'Dwnn i.'
147	Davies, Rees. The 'Cromindee' of the 1718 Lists was pretty certainly Cwm-du where Davies lived, and where the 'Hanover' meeting-house was built in 1744 (article by the Rev. Isaac Thomas in 'Y Cofadur, 1958, 12–13).
244	EVANS, JOHN (1815–91). His grandson, the Rev. C. Beverly Davies, states that Evans was born at Tyn-y-coed, Aber-erch (Caerns.), and that his wife was Mary, cousin of David Williams of Saethon (q.v. on p. 1023). J. E. Griffith has relevant pedigrees on pp. 252 and 317 of his Pedigrees.
252	Evans, Thomas (1714?-79). Congregational Fund Board minutes record a gran to him at Denbigh, 6 June 1757 (Y Cofiadur , 1958, 17).
308	Griffiths, Vavasor. Congregational Fund Board minutes show that he had resigned before 8 Dec. 1740 (Y Cofiadur, 1958, 25).
374	HUGHES, GRIFFITH. An article by F. J. Dellett (Jnl. of Barbados Museum and Hist Soc., Nov. 1955) agrees that it is 'not certain that he returned to Barbados, though nominally still rector of S. Lucy's in 1754. He disappears from the list of Fellows of the Royal Society after 1758, so possibly he died in 1758 His successor at S. Lucy's began his incumbency in 1760.
433-4	Jenkins, Jenkin. The last grant to him, as minister at Llanfyllin, by the Congregational Fund Board, was on 2 June 1760 (T Cofiadur , 1958, 19).
450-1	JONES, DAVID (1736–1810). Further details can now be found in Cylch. Cymd. Hane. M.C., March 1958 (article by the Rev. Gomer M. Roberts).
512	JONES, SAMUEL (1681?-1719). It would seem from the minutes of the Congregationa Fund Board that he left James Owen's Academy in 1704, and spent a year of more in Isaac Chauncy's Academy at Moorfields, before going on to Leider (Y Cofiadur, 1958, 20).
545	Lewis, Powys. Delete the statement that Lewis Gwynn died in 1552.
554-5	Lewis, John (d. 1616). Mr. F. G. Payne queries the identification of John Lewis of Llynwene with the Lincoln's Inn man of that name. A John Lewis is described as 'of the Inner Temple' in E. Gwynne Jones's Cal. of Excheque Procs., 313. The Calendar of Inner Temple Records, 253, 266–7, 304, speaks o John Lewis as a recusant—and John Lewis of Llynwene was, indeed, a Romar Catholic, as were two or more generations of his descendants. T. I. Jeffrey, Jones's Exchequer Procs., 151/34/8 Jas. I, records his excommunication by the bishop of S. Davids.
564	Lewis, Sir William Thomas (lord Merthyr). N.L.W. Jnl., x, 59-60, shows that Lucy Thomas of Waun-wyllt was not quite the first to market Welsh coa in London. Further, N.L.W. Jnl., x, 416, shows that even where Waun-wyll is concerned, the credit is due not to Mrs. Thomas but to her husband Robert Thomas, who did not die till 19 Feb. 1833, and had made a Londor contract in 1830—his lease of Waun-wyllt, by the way, was taken in 1824 not in 1828, as stated in the article. His widow's celebrity is due rather to the enormous expansion of the business under her direction.
575	LLOYD, CHARLES (d. 1698). See Y Cofiadur, 1958, 5–6 and 8, on his son Lewis Lloyd's importance in the activities of the Congregational Fund Board.

PRICE, EDWARD. Mr. D. Tecwyn Lloyd notes that Hengaer-uchaf, where Price died, is not in Llangum parish, but in Llawr-y-betws.
